DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1 to 18 are presented for examination.

Information Disclosure Statement

2. The references listed in the information disclosure statement submitted on 5-13-2004, 8-3-2004, 12-21-2004, 5-13-2005, 6-24-2005, 1-17-2006, and 7-3-2006 have been considered by the examiner (see attached PTO-1449).

Specification

3. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: the disclosure is referring to the same element in the figures with different names specifically page 4, lines 10 to 13.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Objections

4. Claim 12 is objected to because of the following informalities: please change "the system" to ---a system--- recited on line 3.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Art Unit: 2133

6. Claims 12 to 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 12 is indefinite because the phrase "the computer program product of claim, wherein" the examiner is unsure if claim 12 is a dependent or independent claim. Claims 13 to 18 are rejected due to their dependency on a rejected base claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

7. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 10 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the preamble of the claims recites intended use and the body of the claim is directed to a program per se. The language of the claim raises a question as to whether the claim is directed merely to an abstract idea that is not tied to a technology art, environment or machine which would result in a practical application producing a concrete, useful, and tangible result to form the basis of statutory subjected matter under 35 U.S.C. 101. Claims 11 and 13 to 18 are also rejected due to their dependency on a rejected base claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

8. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 2133

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

9. Claims 1 to 2 and 10 to 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Croke et al. (USP 6842881 B2).

Claim 1:

Croke teaches a rule base system and method for automatically generating photomask orders, the method comprising: a template in which data is entered by a user ("receiving data from a first enterer") (see col. 7, lines 15 to 25) and a first set of rules are established to ensure the user input the correct data ("accepting data received from the first data enterer into the system if the data are entered in a format compliant with a first set of rules") (see col. 7, lines 25 et seq.). Croke also teaches that addition is received according to the "Array Registration" template ("second data enterer") wherein the data in the "Array Registration" is needed to complete the order and is entered after the data in the template (see col. 9, lines 35 to 45).

Croke further teaches that data is entered in the "Array Registration" template according to a second set of rules (see col. 9, lines 45 et seq.), which reads on "accepting first additional data received from the second data enterer into the system if the data are entered in a format compliant with a second set of rules." Croke teaches that the templates, orders and rules are stored in a database (see col. 8, lines 49 et seq.).

As per claim 2, Croke teaches that the data entered by the user must comply with the first and second set of rules (see col. 9, lines 55 to 68).

Claim 10:

Croke teaches a rule base system and method for automatically generating photomask orders, the method comprising: a template in which data is entered by a user ("receiving data from a first enterer") (see col. 7, lines 15 to 25) and a first set of rules are established to ensure the user input the correct data ("accepting data received from the first data enterer into the system if the data are entered in a format compliant with a first set of rules") (see col. 7, lines 25 et seq.). Croke also teaches that addition is received according to the "Array Registration" template ("second data enterer") wherein the data in the "Array Registration" is needed to complete the order and is entered after the data in the template (see col. 9, lines 35 to 45).

Croke further teaches that data is entered in the "Array Registration" template according to a second set of rules (see col. 9, lines 45 et seq.), which reads on "accepting first additional data received from the second data enterer into the system if the data are entered in a format compliant with a second set of rules." Croke teaches that the templates, orders and rules are stored in a database (see col. 8, lines 49 et seq.). Croke also teaches that the rules and templates are implemented in a software-based application installed on a computer (see col. 10, lines 44 et seq.).

As per claim 11, Croke teaches that the data entered by the user must comply with the first and second set of rules (see col. 9, lines 55 to 68).

Allowable Subject Matter

10. Claims 3 to 9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
